BUTE GREENWAY
PHASE 1

A SHORE-TO-SHORE CONNECTION

CITY OF VANCOUVER

SHARE YOUR INPUT
vancouver.ca/bute-greenway

The City of Vancouver is exploring ideas for an improved shore-to-shore connection along Bute Street and developing a permanent design for Bute-Robson Plaza.

Bute Street is an important north-south route through the downtown peninsula, connecting Burrard Inlet to False Creek through various neighbourhoods and popular destinations.

SHARE YOUR INPUT

Staff are exploring different approaches to improve and prioritize Bute Street for:

» walking, rolling, and cycling for people of all ages and abilities; and,

» providing a variety of public spaces to play, sit, relax, socialize, enjoy food or drink, or host small community events

We are looking for your input on the draft project goals, how you use the street today, and your hopes and ideas for the future Bute Greenway.

We also want to hear from you on a draft concept design for a permanent Bute-Robson Plaza.

If you have any questions or comments related to the Bute Greenway, please contact our team by:
